

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

The body of Mrs. Angie Warren Perkins, 64, who died Friday evening at her home in Knoxville, Tenn., on the result of injuries received in an accident in that city last Wednesday evening, is expected to arrive in Danielson this (Monday) morning and will be taken to the home of Principal and Mrs. Ernest H. Warren, on Hawkins street.

With her husband, Professor Charles A. Perkins of the faculty of the university of Tennessee, Mrs. Perkins was returning from church when their car skidded, or in some other manner was thrown into contact with a passing trolley car. Mrs. Perkins suffered internal injuries and a fractured collar bone and died Friday evening at 6 o'clock.

Mrs. Perkins was one of Killbuck's most remarkable women. She was a daughter of Lysander and Marjorie Maron Warren and was born here. Her early studies were in the schools of this town and she later studied at Wilbraham academy in Massachusetts and at Wesleyan university at Middletown, being the first woman to receive a degree from a New England university.

Later as an educator and lecturer she gained a place of distinction. In 1876 Mrs. Perkins received the degree of A. B. at Wesleyan and an M. A. degree from the same university in 1879. In 1879-1880 she was assistant professor of French and Latin at Wesleyan. In 1881 she became woman principal of Lawrence university at Appleton, Wisconsin, remaining there until 1883. From 1887 to 1890 she was dean of the Woman's department of the university of Tennessee.

Mrs. Perkins' masterful ability, her widespread recognition and the extent of educational endeavor that she entered and many have been the expressions of appreciation of the splendid achievements that are to her credit.

Recognition for unusual talents came to her from those to whom she came in contact. In 1894 Mrs. Perkins was elected regent of Knoxville, Tenn., chapter of the D. A. C. and from 1890 to 1894 she was president of the Tennessee Federation of Women's clubs, and from 1894 to 1896 was a director of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

She had also served as a vice president of the Woman's Missionary society of the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Perkins was the first woman ever elected a member of a school board in a community south of the Ohio river; she also was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary societies, and the Phi Kappa Phi.

Travel abroad afforded Mrs. Perkins opportunity for special studies and observations upon which her exceedingly entertaining and instructive writings and lectures were based. Frequently during her visits here she has addressed audiences who have been delighted, as was invariably the rule wherever her lectures were given. Her books include "Our Year Abroad," the subject matter based on material gathered in many European countries, and a volume dealing with Alaska. One of her finest lectures was on the Passion Play of Oberammergau; others of special interest were on Russia and Ireland, Egypt and the Holy Land were productive for her of material for lectures of great interest.

Only recently Mrs. Perkins returned from Atlanta, Ga., where she represented Tennessee at a reception given by women of the south in honor of Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, wife of the vice-president elect.

It has been the custom of Professor and Mrs. Perkins for years past to spend the summer seasons at the Warren homestead on the Green Hollow road, just south of Danielson. Mrs. Perkins remained this year until October before returning to Knoxville.

Mrs. Perkins was a member of a family associated with the history of New England from early colonial days. Her personality was charming and this combined with her culture, wide experience and many other splendid attributes made her a very remarkable woman.

She leaves her husband and four children, Mrs. Ernest H. Warren, of Danielson, Mrs. Margaret Dignan, Miss Marjorie Warren Perkins, both of Knoxville, and Warren A. Perkins, of Chicago.

Funeral services for Mrs. Angeline Elizabeth Foster, who died Saturday afternoon at the Congregational church at Chenopet, were held Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Burial was in the Aosta Hill cemetery, at Chenopet. Relatives acted as bearers. A. F. Wood was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Over in Brooklyn, Log Warden Harry Lathrop is investigating an unusual case. Mr. Lathrop said Saturday that a dog that evidently had been caught in a steel trap set by some person of cruel tendencies had been shot and killed. The body of the dog had then been covered with sticks which were set after in an attempt to cremate the carcass and thereby hide evidence of the killing. The dog is described by Mr. Lathrop as having been a valuable one owned at the Doyen farm in West Brooklyn. The fact that a dog had been heard howling through the hours of the night before it was killed and during the period when it was held fast in the trap, led to an investigation that disclosed the killing and the effort to burn up the carcass.

Thomas G. Clark of Goodenough said Saturday that stock worth from $100 to $500 was stolen from his store in that village in a rail maul during the night of the 28th.

Thieves' stocks of the store were practically cleaned out by the thieves, who also carried away boxes of chocolates, silk hosiery and much other property.

The fact that the thieves were found on the floor of the store and behind the counter would indicate that the burglary was committed by the same gang that has been raiding poultry yards in this territory for the past few weeks.

A "jimmy" was used to force the door of the store and the manner in which this was done indicates that the burglars are clever workers in their line. Evidence of their shrewdness in operating is also seen in the fact that they took nothing from the store that was so marked as to make later identification possible.

It is possible that the break was committed by the same parties who robbed the hen coops of James Crowthers at Pomfret Landing one night last week.

Tuesday morning a solemn high mass of requiem for Rev. Thomas James Penno, who died last week at Thompsonville, is to be sung at St. James' church. Father Preston was the founder of St. James' school during his pastorate in Danielson and all the children of the school and former pupils there are expected to attend Tuesday's memorial service.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Bassett of Broad street are leaving this (Monday) morning for Los Angeles. They expect to remain in California about two months.

PUTNAM

Stanley Kelly, of Pomfret, was in town Saturday and told of his plans for a large camp solely for the boys of Black Pond, Woodstock, next summer. Mr. Kelly already has a fine summer camp for boys on Crystal Lake, Eastford. The new camp in Woodstock will be in charge of his sister, Mr. Kelly states that this year he expects over one hundred boys at the Eastford camp. During the remainder of the year, Mr. Kelly conducts a school for boys in Pomfret, which he says is full to running over. This is the first year in which the school has been in existence.

Mrs. Catherine Wood, 83, of North Grovesdale, widow of Daniel Wood died at her home there Friday. Burial is to be in Grove street cemetery, Putnam.

At the meeting of the city council tomorrow (Tuesday) evening, the councilmen will listen to the annual message of the mayor.

A campaign for funds for the Near East relief has been started at the Putnam high school. The drive will continue until June, a pupil going around with a bag for contributions twice a week until that time.

"Although they have been on the alert expecting an alarm any minute, the men here had no fires to trouble them for several days. They were busy the early part of last week slogging a chimney fire or two every day and this vacation from fire is as pleasing to them as it certainly is to property owners."

The police force seems to find little crime around a large shaft in the power house at the Over Dam, below Danielson. To date the break has not been resumed until it is. The trolleys running from Danielson south are getting now from another power company, but nothing is known as to the date when the cars in this section will run again. Being without trolleys reminds some of the citizens of last winter, when the cars were out of service because of the mass of snow and ice. That seems to be about the only particular in which last winter can be compared to this, however.

A large crowd of Putnam high school backers who went to Danielson Friday evening were badly disappointed when the Putnam high was badly beaten, to the tune of twenty-two to five. This is the first league game that Putnam has lost and the Putnam boosters expected to see a close game and that they have won ahead at the end. Killbuck's team was a lot better, however, and Putnam never got a chance to do any forging.

Work on the addition to the Day-Kimball hospital has progressed to such a point that the principal men employed in the construction work there at present are plumbers and electricians. The addition has been in building all the fall and winter. The dining rooms and kitchen have been moved from the original structure into the addition, but no patients are yet in the hospital. It has been badly in need of an addition and at times has been so full that cots have been set up in the corridors.

Rev. Boynton Merrill, who was operated on last Wednesday for appendicitis at the Day-Kimball hospital, continues to show improvement.

Chaustiqua will probably come to Putnam about the first of August this summer, according to a letter received by the local president, Mrs. W. J. Bartlett. This date seems to be as good as any, as several of the summer people would be away for the fourth.

The juvenile population of the city has turned more than ever to skating, since the ice has been so good. The city fathers have decided to enforce rules forbidding children to come to theatres unless accompanied by a parent or guardian. Skating is fine on all ponds about town so the regulation will be minded so much until warmer weather.

Putnam's troop of Boy Scouts has been without a scoutmaster since the Rev. C. S. MacKay, formerly pastor of the Baptist church left Putnam to accept a call to the Broadway Baptist church in Providence.

Putnam Council of Union St. Jean Baptiste, No. 47 and No. 114, is to hold a whist and reception.

George Rhythe, formerly track supervisor in this section for the New Haven road, now engaged on government work, which takes him to all parts of the eastern United States, was in Putnam over the weekend. Today (Monday) he will return with his family in Philadelphia. In the vicinity of which city he is now located.

Funeral services for Mrs. William Gaultier, 45, who died last Wednesday morning, Mrs. Gaultier died late Thursday from pneumonia. She leaves her husband and five children. Mrs. Gaultier was born in Putnam and was a lifelong resident of this city.

Sidney Hayward of Chapman street was in Providence Saturday.

Ice harvesting is still going on in Putnam and surrounding towns. A few more days of cold weather will fill the houses and insure lower ice prices next summer.

Two of the Putnam high players who were slightly injured in the basketball game with Killbuck Friday evening, apparently suffered no lasting ill effects from the game and were about town as usual Saturday.

James J. Charron, vice commander of Anselm Mayotte Post of the American Legion and the local adjutant Joseph D. Plagg, are the delegates from this post to a celebration in Hartford this (Monday) evening in honor of the visit of the of their aunt and uncle.

Other and Beatrice Bonthiller were in Providence Sunday visiting their mother, who is a patient in St. Joseph's hospital in that city.

Louis Foster of Central Falls was a visitor with relatives in Danielson on Sunday.

Killbuck's victory over Putnam high school basketball five brings the local team to equal terms of leadership with Putnam in the league race.

Sunday's rain threatened to ruin the prospects for the time being of getting a season's supply of ice from Quinebaug lake, where cutting has to have started in full swing this (Monday) morning.

Captain F. O. Armington will be at the state armory evenings this week to receive enlistments for the Supply company, mobile artillery, that is being formed here.

Representative E. L. Darbie introduced in the legislature a bill providing for the building of a stretch of state highway eastward from the end of the present macadam highway out of Reynolds street to the Rhode Island border at Little Rest.

There will be special services at St. James' church Wednesday in observance national commander, Fred W. Galbraith, to that city. A banquet will be served in his honor followed by speaking. Archibald Macdonald, Jr., of this city's post, is a member of the reception committee.

UNCASVILLE

Wednesday evening in the Methodist chapel a chicken pie supper was served by the Ladies' Aid society to a large number of patrons. Norwich and New London were well represented. Three tables were filled with several hot dishes. The hostesses were Mrs. Hubert Dart, Mrs. Albert Avery and Mrs. Y. J. Miller. The waitresses were Mrs. Albert Gessner, Mrs. Norman Lathrop, Mrs. Ella Church, Ralph Wallace Potter and Wallace William Vallett. Mrs. William Beckwith and Mrs. George Dart sold supper tickets. In the kitchen were Mrs. Burke Hewitt, Mrs. Charles Bartlett, Mrs. Mary Chapman and Mrs. Kellogg. The supper consisted of chicken pie, mashed potatoes and turnip, pickles, cranberry sauce, brown bread, hot biscuit, cake and ice cream. A fifty-five dollar bill was cleared. Among those attending the supper from Norwich was a delegation from the telephone exchange, Miss Jennie Glasbrenner, Miss Louise Fitzpatrick, Miss Anna McNaught, Miss Edith Woodworth and Mrs. Clarence Henderson.

Mrs. Eliza Jerome is spending several weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jerome in Plainfield.

The Women's Home Missionary society met at the home of the president, Mrs. Ralph Meier, Tuesday afternoon with 25 members and seven guests in attendance. At the business meeting it was voted to hold a social at the home of the president, Mrs. Meier, at the close of the program, which was composed of readings on various subjects, a tableau was given, which was most impressive and plainly pointed the moral.

The Ladies' Aid society met at the home of Mrs. Hubert Dart, Tuesday afternoon with 18 in attendance. At the business meeting it was voted to rescind the vote taken a year ago to hold no more church suppers and a supper was arranged for. It was also voted to give the church treasury money to pay the bill on the parsonage. Mr. Hubert, assisted by Mrs. Harriet Furber, served crackers, cake and cocoa. The offering was $2.55.

Under the auspices of the Community Library association a benefit dance night held in Robertson hall Thursday night. There was a good attendance, people coming from surrounding towns. Spelling, four-part singing, and a musical cake and ice cream were on the program. The receipts were $50. The affair was in charge of the entertainment committee and to them and their earnest efforts its success is largely due. The committee comprises Mrs. George A. Chagnon, chairman, Mrs. Ray Woodmansee, Mrs. Charles L. Chapel, Miss Jennie McCauley, Miss Grace Lyon.

Mrs. Nan Rogers and daughter Lillian have moved to the upstairs tenement in the Nease house.

Reuben Austin of Westerly has been visiting relatives in the past week. Miss Nan Allen, who has been in Lawrence hospital, New London, and later a guest of her nephew, Hubert Dart, of Oakdale, returned to her home here Wednesday.

MONTVILLE

The whist club, recently organized, held its first meeting with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Chapman Tuesday evening. Three tables of whist were played.
